This client was doing home color with a so called semi permanent color. The picture on the left was after 5 weeks not doing any color. She is a natural level 7 blond. She asked to get back to her natural color without looking red, and looking like a very natural color weave. We achieved this result same day (Long Day).

This client was a natural level 6 with multiple color processes to her hair and plenty of break-age. She models and her next gig needed her to be blonde. I decided to attempt to get her blonde, then I chose a blonde toner to match the blonde extensions I added to her hair. She was very pleased.

This client was doing home color and some of the ends of her hair were black and the top was lighter red brown. She has about 2 inches of her natural hair showing. She just wanted a color that looked good on her and was more even. She is a natural level 8 (light blonde).

This client had not colored her hair in 7 months. She is a natural level 6 and her previous color was a Goldwell Elumen red brown color. She wanted a more natural look. We did an amber brown, a golden blonde and a cool wood brown.

This is Nichole one of our stylists, she has multiple color layers in her hair from coppers to magenta's to violet's...all faded. She is a natural level 4. We decided to cut off those chemical ends and go for a real change.

This client is a natural level 7 blonde, and she always has done light blonde. She went to a colorist who talked her into a red color. She said that the red color was just too muted and she wants a color that really pops! She told us to do whatever we thought would look striking...so....red, here we come. Defining Image to the rescue! We chose a really rich red with very small strawberry golden highlights.

We have been highlighting this clients hair for over a year.
